

Polyglucosan bodies are the result of miasmically mis-produced forms of glucosan that harden inside nerves like stones, create an acid and irritate nerves.

These stones seem to react to whatever sugar is in different foods – all foods have some form of sugar. They create a wide number of food reactions, the same as or similar to food allergies.

We created 10 separate formulas (listed below) until we found a pattern and a base process for making the stones. We were able to formulate the concept into a single remedy that Carolyn Libby aptly named Food Eden.

There are a number of intestinal conditions that we have developed that create poor digestion and there are a number of specific food intolerances that we have created listed in the section called “Malabsorption Issues”. All are known food intolerances in current science.

Over the years in the grain intolerances we have noticed that a number of side issues to grain have been discovered. It is reasonable to understand that different intolerances relate to the formation of stones in nerves that react to currently undiscovered glucosan stones. We now use Food Eden for those who have taken the remedies for known intolerances and still have trouble with food reactions.

SUMMARY OF REMEDIES
(with range of bottles needed)

FOOD EDEN 6-8

- Polyglucosan Disease-Bielschowsky Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Cone Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Endothelium Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Hormone bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Lafora Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Lewy Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Mesenchyme Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Neurochyme Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Porphyrin Bodies
- Polyglucosan Disease-Prolamin Bodies